

Piped Piper Dress Code Policy

Purpose

Piped Piper believes in an environment that fosters creativity, collaboration, and individual expression. Our dress code aims to balance comfort with a professional image that represents the company well, both internally and when interacting with clients or partners.

Policy

Piped Piper maintains a "smart casual" dress code. This means:

- Comfortable and Presentable: Clothing should be clean, well-maintained, and free from holes, tears, or distracting graphics.
- Smart and Stylish: Opt for clothing that suggests effort and care in your appearance. This could include jeans paired with a nice top or blouse, khakis or chinos with a button-down shirt, sweaters, dresses, skirts, or jumpsuits.
- Footwear: Footwear should be clean and appropriate for an office setting. Sneakers, sandals, dress shoes, and boots are all acceptable, as long as they are in good condition.

Situational Considerations

- Client Meetings: If engaging in client meetings or presentations, attire should lean towards "business casual" (e.g., a blazer with your outfit, dressier pants or skirt, polished shoes).
- Special Events: The dress code may be adjusted occasionally for company events, team outings, or casual Fridays. Communication on any changes will be provided in advance.

Prohibited Items

To maintain a safe and professional environment, please avoid the following:

- Gym attire (leggings worn alone, workout shirts, etc.)
- Excessively revealing clothing
- Clothing with offensive graphics, messages, or slogans
- Beachwear (flip-flops, etc.)
- Headwear (unless for religious or medical purposes)

Additional Notes

Piped Piper values personal expression and encourages individuality within these guidelines. Good hygiene and grooming are essential components of a professional demeanor.

If you have questions or concerns about whether a specific item is appropriate, please speak with your manager or an HR representative.
